

Hello Larry,

It is great to hear from you. That is some exciting news on the books so far. I hope to see you on some of those T.V. shows' soon. Your book is still on my nightstand (that is where I do all of my reading), and I am almost done.

The more I read (as slow as I am), the angrier I get about your situation. I have always been one who strongly supports our judicial system and the way our country's laws are upheld. However, I am appalled at how you have been treated, and I now see that this is a flaw in the system--not just an isolated case. As sad as this makes me feel, I am proud that you are standing up for yourself and trying to evoke change.

Most people don't have the courage or drive to take a stand against this type of injustice. I know that I have allowed the "powers that be" to control me in the past (granted, not at the same level as you have been toyed with). What those "powers that be" fail to remember is that they are put in place to protect the citizens of this country, not to cast judgment based upon gender or any other favoritism. Thank you, Larry, for writing this book, and thank you for continuing to fight.

Please keep me updated on the progress, and let me know there is anything else you need from us. I hope that this thing with the writers gets resolved soon. I don't want to see you out there in that dress! Take care, and I will look forward to hearing some more positive news.

Best regards,

Brett

E-Mail reprinted with senders' kind permission.